Author's Response (submission of revised version)

Dear HESS editor,

Following the point-by-point response to reviewers already published in the paper's discussion, we are submitting a revised version of the manuscript addressing the referee and editorial requests.

Major changes were done in the methods' part in order to improve the clarity of our approach, the use of the LUCID simulations and choice of dataset. Section 2 was then revised and restructured. We included a new figure with an overview of the methodology followed in the ET reconstructions. To synthesize this section we have also transferred the ET products evaluation part to the appendix.

The whole manuscript was thoroughly revisited considering the referees' main comments and minor corrections. We tried to highlight most of the new passages of the text in the PDF file uploaded.

Juan P. Boisier, on behalf of my co-authors.
