

Interactive comment on “Modelling of snow processes in catchment hydrology by means of downscaled WRF meteorological data fields” by K. Förster et al.

B. Schaefli (Editor)

bettina.schaefli@epfl.ch

Received and published: 15 May 2014

I think that the authors have a very good point when they write in their response that "using observed precipitation in combination with downscaled data could be seen as an alternative for regions where e.g. only a few precipitation observations are available and all other meteorological data are missing." This is indeed a very common situation in alpine areas where there are much more rain gauges than complete meteo stations

Interactive comment on Hydrol. Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., 11, 4063, 2014.

Full Screen / Esc

Printer-friendly Version

Interactive Discussion

Discussion Paper