A short note regarding Prof. Beven’s referee comment

I would like to thank Prof. Beven very much for his thoughtful and constructive comment. We had already exchanged several emails (quite long discussions) before he submitted his referee interactive comment to HESS. In those emails, he guided me to think much deeper than the opinion which I have submitted to HESS. Therefore, after this open discussion period ends, If the editor decided to give me the opportunity to improve my paper, then I would be able to improve it upon the referees’ comments. Prof. Beven had only asked me the revised version but I thought that I should upload this short note for the readers who follow this paper’s discussion.
