Two reviews of the manuscript have now been achieved and published as "Referee Comments" in HESSD. I hereby acknowledge the referees for their work and valuable comments. They both agree in finding this paper clear, interesting and relevant, suitable for publication in HESS. Based on these evaluations and my own reading of the manuscript, the latter is accepted for publication in the special issue "Man and river systems: Long term interactions between societies and nature in regional scale watersheds" with minor changes.

The author is asked to write an "Author Comment" within 4 weeks to respond to the referee comments and attributed short comments if any, and to submit a revised version of the manuscript accordingly. In doing so, she shall address each point of the referee comments and provide a list of the changes introduced to the manuscript.

In addition to the minor demands from referees that should be answered and lead to some precisions in the manuscript, it seems important to better contextualize the CATCH-model and to develop a more critical point of view (see especially Referee #2 for more suggestions).
