

Interactive comment on “Assessing water resources adaptive capacity to climate change impacts in the Pacific Northwest Region of North America” by A. F. Hamlet

A. Hamlet

hamleaf@uw.edu

Received and published: 31 October 2010

This thoughtful review suggested changes to the manuscript to more substantively address the salmon issue in the Columbia basin, which I have undertaken. I feel these additions to the paper have significantly improved the discussion of the fundamental conflicts between traditional water resources management objectives and those associated with enhancement of ecosystem services.

Please see my more detailed response below.

AFH

C3278

Interactive comment on Hydrol. Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., 7, 4437, 2010.