

Interactive comment on “Climatology of daily rainfall semivariance in The Netherlands” by
C. Z. van de Beek et al.

S. Ferraris

stefano.ferraris@unito.it

Received and published: 22 April 2010

Isn't possible that terrain variables (slope, altitude, urbanization etc.) explain spatial variability more than distance related quantities like the one in the semivariogram? Shouldn't it pertinent in the introduction at least to mention this possibility?

Interactive comment on Hydrol. Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., 7, 2085, 2010.

C594