We have received two very good reviews of this manuscript. Both reviewers find the manuscript interesting and of value for the audience of HESS. However, both reviewers also discuss points, where the manuscript should be improved and both recommend major revisions. As one reviewer states the manuscript reads (at least partly) too much as an administrative report. For a journal paper, the programme background description could rather be shortened, whereas results/findings and discussion of those should be extended. Both reviewers provide several suggestion for such extensions.
