Dear authors,

Your manuscript was reviewed by three experts on seasonal hydro-meteorological forecasting. I found their comments crucial and addressing them would improve the quality of your article. I encourage you to submit your response to allow an open discussion and also a preliminary evaluation of the potentially revised manuscript, which will eventually result in a publication in this special issue.

I would kindly highlight (as two referees also pointed) the need to reduce the length of this manuscript. Please focus on highlighting the key messages from your analysis.

I am looking forward to your reply.

Best regards, Ilias Pechlivanidis
