

Interactive comment on “Adaptation tipping points of urban wetlands under a drying climate” by Amar V. V. Nanda et al.

L. Bertola

laura.bertola@gmail.com

Received and published: 12 July 2017

The paper explores a new method to assess effectiveness of management strategies, given a high degree of uncertainty. The presented case study deals with a wetland system in Australia. This is an important and much needed approach, given the frequent lack of data, which should be no excuse to abstain from the assessment of management effectiveness.

Interactive comment on Hydrol. Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/hess-2017-307>, 2017.