

My thanks James for taking the time to respond. You have nicely summarised how the case for L-shaped transit time distributions could be argued. My apologies for a little delay in my reply.