

Interactive comment on “An evaluation of the importance of spatial resolution in global climate and hydrological models based on the Rhine and Mississippi basins” by Imme Benedict et al.

M.-E. Demory (Referee)

marie-estelle.demory@env.ethz.ch

Received and published: 16 October 2018

I would like to acknowledge the authors' hard work in revising their manuscript and addressing all of my concerns. The single case events are now better put into context, the conclusions focused on the two studied basins are better justified, and the moisture fluxes strengthen their conclusions as expected. It is also a good idea to add a broader implications section. I find the manuscript much improved and now suitable for publication.

Kind regards

C1

Interactive comment on Hydrol. Earth Syst. Sci. Discuss., <https://doi.org/10.5194/hess-2018-437>, 2018.

C2