

Dear Editor,

You will find in the hess web interface a new version of our manuscript hess-2019-690, that includes all the minor modifications suggested by both the editor and the anonymous referee. Only one point was not considered in the revised manuscript: the lon/lat were not included in Figure 1, because we have estimated that the political borders and the contours showing the topography allow a quick and easy visualisation of the location of the domain considered in the study. This is a way to avoid overloading the figure with additional information that is not used in the text, and that would appear with a small size of the police, difficult to read.

Best regards,

Martin Ménégoz
