Authors have addressed the questions. I think it is a good contribution to understand the streamflow generation in Mediterranean climate region and could be accepted for publication.